What Do/Can I Do Now After Wife Divorced Me?

Ask Angie: Frank and Angie, I have just found your web site. Thank you for the ministry you are providing. I wish I would have found it sooner, about 17 months ago. I had been married 28 years and we have been committed Christians our whole marriage and raised our three children (26, 23, 17) to know the Lord and they are all saved, Praise the Lord. However, after starting the last two years of nursing college and after the first month or so Kelly changed. I thought it was just stress from being an older student (46 at the time) in college. Come June 15, 2012, I discovered she was having an affair with our family chiropractor of 22 years. I confronted her and she left me and our daughter that day. My heart has been broken and my soul ripped apart. I've done everything I knew to try to save our marriage. We both entered our marriage with an understanding of covenant and to be honest I just don't understand what changed. I haven't been perfect and I've addresses my issues and am repentant. I was served the divorce papers last Nov. and court finalized it in Sept. this year.

This brings me to my question; what am I to do now that I'm divorced? I still desire to be reconciled and restored but Kelly will not talk to me and seems to be full of hate and anger and its difficult to even deal with issues in parenting our 17 year old daughter. Is there any material, books, etc that would help me and provide direction for the place I find myself in? And of course your prayers are much appreciated. Thank you and my God bless,

Marriage Encouragement: Hello and thanks for writing in. We have addressed this issue in this video: <http://youtu.be/nWr1FmKnbA0>... and of course if you need additional encouragement about what you should do after divorce, we have many encouraging articles and free ebooks on the Heaven Ministries website. And, here's something else for couples to ponder/pray over. This whole issue of infidelity and having affairs stems from the fact that husband and wife are NOT partaking in their God-given positions but doing the exact opposite. For example: A wife thinks she needs to work outside the home (and maybe she does if management is not run correctly), and husbands are not taking their headship in the home seriously...
